ANNUAL PICNIC

Sure, we're gonna have a PICNIC, but it won't be at Stone Mtn Park. American Legion Clubhouse, adjoining the golf course in Atlanta's Chastain Park, has been rented for our picnic this year.

We've had 15+ lovely annual outings in Stone Mtn. Park but they just got too "rich for our blood." The Legion Clubhouse provides a large surfaced parking lot - NO CHARGE! - large B-B-Q grill outside - air-conditioned hall for 100+ picnickers - indoor toilets (one for "Rangers" and one for "Clerks") - enclosed porch for "sittin' 'n rockin." Sounds like our style, don't it?

The drill's same as usual:

- bring a food dish for the buffet
- bring your own before dinner "libations", appetizers, etc.
- plenty of soft drinks, coffee, hot water for tea, sugar and cream are provided
- plates, cups, napkins and eating tools are also provided
- come anytime in the afternoon. We have the place from 11 a.m. 'till midnight. Early birds can cook hotdogs, hamburgers, etc., on the outdoor grill if you want - supper's not 'till 6 p.m. Kids can play on the lawn, walk wooded trails, catch a few rays on a towel. The clubhouse is something like a quarter mile back off of Powers Ferry Road.
- after dinner program will be an audience-participation discussion of the Iraqi coup in the Arabian Gulf, the Pete Rose vs Baseball and George Steinbrenner vs (same) cases. Where to have the picnic next year (1991 is SFSRA's 20th anniversary) and then "what's wrong with the Atlanta Braves" if there's time.
- adjourn at 7 p.m.

(Ed's note! Bob Johns forgot to mention that the picnic is Thursday, September 20. See map below for your route to the picnic location). Phone 261-9727 for additional directions, if needed.

JUNE LUNCHEON MEETING

Attendance was not as great as previous luncheons. You were missed! Betty and Paul Scott presented an informative program on the Friendship Force, a private non-profit organization started in the early 70's by Dr. Wayne Smith. Small groups visit other countries and are hosted by families in those countries. Those members of the Friendship Force then in turn will become hosts in this country for families from abroad. It's an excellent opportunity to meet new people and get an inside look at a country. Quite different from the usual tourist way of traveling. The cost is usually less than traveling on own or on tours.

Stan Adams spoke briefly to the group regarding new direction for the Forest Service which will be a major policy change.

Out-of-town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Al Setzer from Franklin, N. C. and Mr. and Mrs. Dixie Howell from Ocala, Fl. Harry Rossoll suggested that we have name tags so that we can better identify those visitors among us.

President Lee Bardwell mentioned to the group that a list of retirees who have died during the past years will be available for those who wish a copy. The list was compiled over the years by Paul Russell. It will be available at the December luncheon.

Plans are in the making for a new Directory. A fee will be charged to mail it and it should also be available in December. For those attending the December luncheon a copy may be obtained for $1. The cost is to help defray cost of printing.

Cost of the luncheon will now be $9.00.

Clark Sell announced that the Southeastern Section, SAF, would hold its meeting September 30 - October 2, 1990, at Stone Mountain Park.

Door prizes were plants, cheese balls, candy and books.

NATIONAL PARTNERSHIP AWARDS

John Mixon, Georgia Forestry Commission, Macon, GA., was the recipient of a National Partnership Award for outstanding contributions to enhance research and technology transfer relating to proper forest protection and management for a wide range of activities.

Relationships that the Forest Service has built up with partners from outside the Forest Service has enabled the F.S. to do things in natural resource management that could not have been accomplished on our own.

Also receiving an award was Dr. William Elam, Mississippi State University, Starkville, MS., for contributions to the Forest Tree Seed Program. This program has created a "center of excellence" in tree seed technology in the U.S. Through joint use of facilities, equipment, and personnel, the Forest Service has accomplished research goals that would not have been possible otherwise without the efforts of Dr. Elam.

Another recipient from the Region's area was Dr. Gina McLellan, Clemson University, Clemson, S. C. Dr. McLellan served as Coordinator of the Clemson University Outdoor Recreation Management Short Course. Since 1981, some 250 Forest Service employees, as well as several from other Federal recreation management agencies, have attended this mid-career, intense, graduate level seminar.

In all, there were 19 individuals and groups honored at the awards ceremony.

FOR ALL THOSE BORN BEFORE 1945

Consider the changes you have witnessed. You were born before: television, penicillin, polio shots, frozen foods, Xerox, plastic, contact lenses, Frisbees and the Pill. Before radar, credit cards, split atoms, laser beams and ballpoint pens. Before pantyhose, dishwashers, clothes dryers, electric blankets, air conditioners, drip-dry clothes and before man walked on the moon. In your day, couples got married first and then lived together. How quaint!

In your time, closets were for clothes, not for "coming out of". Bunnies were small rabbits and Rabbits were not Volkswagens. Designer Jeans were scheming girls named Jean, and having a meaningful relationship meant getting along well with your cousins. You thought fast food was what you ate during Lent, and outer space was the back of the Riviera Theater. You were before househusbands, computer dating, dual careers and commuter marriages. Before day-care centers, group therapy and nursing homes.

You never heard of FM radio, tape decks, electric typewriters, artificial hearts, word processors, yogurt and guys wearing earrings. For you, time-sharing meant togetherness - not condominiums; a chip meant a piece of wood; hardware meant hardware; and software wasn't even a word.

In your day, made in Japan meant junk, and the term "making out" referred to how you did on your exam. Pizzas, McDonald's, and instant coffee were unheard of.

For one nickel you could ride a streetcar, make a phone call, buy a Pepsi or enough stamps to mail one letter and two postcards. You could buy a new Chevy Coupe for $600, but who could afford one! A pity, too, because gas was 12¢ a gallon.

In your day, cigarette smoking became fashionable, grass was mowed, Coke was a cold drink and pot was something you cooked in.

So, friends, if you're confused...you're excused. ---AAA Going Places, May-June 1990

In Capitan, New Mexico, hundreds celebrated Smokey Bear Day on May 9th - the 40th anniversary of the rescue of a black bear cub who became the living symbol of a national advertising campaign to prevent forest fires. Capitan, NM, is the home of Smokey the Bear State Park and Museum. Capitan Mayor Frank Warth said the bear cub rescued from the Lincoln National Forest fire in 1950 spent the rest of his life at the National Zoo in Washington, D. C., where he died in 1976. He was buried in the Capitan park.

Dear Bert and Betty:

I want to be among the many who congratulate you two on the outstanding results of good efforts in getting out the D.R.

I didn't receive the February issue because of an address change, however, Jean Brands gave me her copy so I got to read it. (Thank you, Jean). I probably will not get the May '90 issue either. This note may reach you after the newsletter has gone to press. (I'll ask Jean to save hers for me again).

Well, after 29½ years in the same big old house in Ansley Park, I sold out and moved late in January 1990. I found this to be a traumatic and exhausting experience. The old house was filled not only with treasured memories, but with lots of furnishings and no end of junk.

It is good that so much of the readership enjoys the DR and that so many are forthcoming with useful material as well as expressions of appreciation of the efforts you put into preparing and distributing the newsletter. Keep up the good work.

-- Rip Williams

Dear Bert and Betty:

John reads every word of Dixie Ranger when it is received. He enjoys so much any communication that relates to those in Forest Service with whom he has worked in the years beginning 1933 in the CCC and with Forest Service 1935 until his retirement in 1965. He continues to visit with those on Angeline, Yellowpine and Tenaha Districts of the Texas National Forests. Also a number of friends from Sam Houston keep in touch.

John will be eighty years old on June 19 and would like to hear from anyone he worked with or who visited the Texas National Forests from the other states.

Thank you for making retirement years happier for all retirees. Sincerely yours,

Harlowe Johnson (Mrs. John E.)

Dear Betty & Bert: I'm glad there is a red stamp on the back of the DR I received today because it seems to suggest that ya'll need money -- and that demands I get busy and try to communicate. So here's my check indicating that I still have hopes that I can enjoy at least 2 more years of the DR. (Actually, I'm in fine health as is Elva and we look forward to at least 10-15 more years together. We celebrated our 53rd anniversary last May 23rd).

Betty, when I first learned that "Bert & Betty Bray" were the new Editors - my thought was "Who Dat?". So I was really happy to see both of your "resume's" in the May '89 issue! Sure, I remember you as Betty McNutt! --one of the finest, most gracious, helpful, pleasant, efficient, sweetest, dependable F.S. ladies that I've ever known, and I've served with a lot of wonderful ladies (and a few who were not). No wonder the DR is still a great publication!

Bert, I've just re-read your introduction and it doesn't ring any bells for me. Maybe our paths never crossed and if not you haven't missed much -- but you must be a fine guy to win Betty, and I'm hoping I'll have a chance to meet you before too long. I'd say the June 21 luncheon - but we must be on our way to upper NY State for a granddaughter's HS graduation. So I'll look for you and Betty at the fall picnic.

We try real hard to get to those meetings, even though we are always aware that the ranks of those we worked with are getting thinner every year. This year its Tom Hunt who I car-pooled with to the R.O. for many years.

Anyway, I'm really looking forward to seeing you again, Betty, and to getting to meet you Bert and to tell you both in person how much we appreciate the great job you're doing for the "Out to Pasture" F.S. employees. Sincerely,

Allan Friedrich

(Forgive me, readers, but I just had to share those descriptive adjectives with you. I have fond memories of you, Mr. Friedrich, and look forward to seeing you at the picnic. —Betty)

Dear Bert and Betty:

In rambling thru the accumulations on my neglected desk, I happened upon the Nov.'89 and May '90 issues of the Dixie Ranger. This note will serve two purposes: pay my dues and comment on several letters in these issue of the Dixie Ranger, the writers of which have been long-time acquaintances. Beginning with the November issue, I enjoyed the story by Charles R. Ross, who was a one-time assistant of mine; the comments of Herb Ochsner, under whom I worked on the Pisgah NF; Red Strange of the Regional Office; Flonnie Swarthout, who told of Paul's passing (Paul and I were co-workers on the Pisgah on land acquisition in 1934); and my old classmate, Jim Cartwright whose poem, OLD RANGER, was printed on page 16.

And I also enjoyed reading bits of the following in the May 1990 issue: A. W. Lindenmuth; Ted and Beth Schlapfer; J. D. "Red" Strange; and "Retirement Options" by Betty and Nelson Taylor.

As a final note, I was especially sorry to read about Joe Riebold's passing. I knew him well when he was here in S. C. as Forest Supervisor. Sincerely,

Marlin H. Bruner

Dear Brays:

On another scenic tour with Friends of Fernbank - same tour conductors as last year's western National Parks. Several of the group making both of the tours. We often join with others with whom we have toured in our organizations of Fernbank, Friends of Zoo Atlanta, Friendship Force, and Georgia Conservancy. Each of these groups has senior citizen classification. Urge our F. S. retirees to join and participate. We went to Sapelo Island last year and have signed up for Cumberland Island to be in October. Fernbank to go to Sapelo Island this November and likely we will go there again. The Cumberland trip is with Frdends of the Zoo although Georgia Conservancy also will go there and to other coastal areas. Sustain selves as we did sustained yields.

--Sam Johnson

A TRIBUTE TO GENE REICHARD

Rarely does a professional figure suffer through life's tribulations under a major physical handicap, achieve levels of success truly heroic in retrospect, attain the age of 90 and pass on with the degree of publicity contained in the date of death baldness of the notation in the February Dixie Ranger.

Naturally, you ask yourself why I didn't offer something in Gene Reichard's behalf. I'll try to explain. His passing was made known to me about a week later, by an Atlantan who married into the White Russian aristocracy to which Gene was closely tied since youth. My wife and I had sent Gene a dozen red roses for his 90th birthday on November 28, 1989. A female official at his last quarters also called, after the services, to tell of Gene's Old World delight in presenting a rose to each female guest at his last birthday party. The only Atlanta paper obit I could locate was very brief and as inaccurate as a civilian friend, unaware of Gene's dual career as a F. S. officer and a Foreign Service Officer, might be expected to prepare.

To my knowledge, Gene and I are the only former R-8 foresters who also served in Foreign Service assignments and retained membership in the AFSA as retirees. We both were able to utilize U.S.F.S. timber management and program planning experience in our foreign postings. I first served abroad in Liberia (1947-49) with the then U. S. Economic Mission to Liberia; later I was Agricultural Program Officer or Acting Food & Agriculture Officer in Afghanistan (1958-63), India (1963-65) and State Dept. (Wash) (1965-67), all with A.I.D. or predecessor agencies.

Since most R-8 retirees have some knowledge of Gene's Forest Service work, especially as a CCC inspector, I would only note that he was a fine forest engineer, called upon frequently to handle hot potato jobs far outside R-8 and the U.S. Single-handed, he assembled West Coast heavy logging equipment, hassled a small army of men and machines into position, and cleared the entire basin of present Norris Lake, to TVA's delight. Utilization of this heavy cut was also overseen by Gene, who knew wood manufacturing plants and processes to expert degree.

From long-time acquaintance in the field, through friendly Washington area dating with Lucile Batts of the WO, my present wife, and much hilarious partying round D.C., coupled with sporadic but unbroken correspondance, I came to get intimate glimpses of this White Russian. Finally, while I was head of the Foreign Forestry Section, Forest Economics Research Div., W.O., and actually on the C.I.A. payroll as contributor to the post-WWII National Intelligence Survey, poor Gene languished in my small group for agonizing months (doing perfunctory Russian translating) as his checkered background, national origin, and military government activities in the Pacific somehow confounded security gurus and denied him clearance for further foreign assignments. We managed to break this last barrier in Gene's public service path and celebrated properly at a seafood emporium on the Potomac. His F.S. associates, many and varied, sent him on his way to Columbia, South America with a fine S&W 38 special and holster gift at his side. He had several reasons to use it, not for target practice, before retiring at age 66.

Here is the Foreign Service Journal obituary notice as it appeared in the March, 1990 issue:

Eugene C. Reichard, 90, a retired AID forester, died on December 11, 1989, in Atlanta, Georgia. Born in Odessa, Russia, Mr. Reichard was graduated by the Imperial Military Academy at St. Petersburg (Russia). He fought in World War I as a Hussar officer of the Russian Imperial Calvary, losing his right arm on the Austrian front. When the Russian Revolution broke out, he fought with the White Army against the Bolsheviks.

He immigrated to the United States in 1922. In 1926 received a degree in forestry from Syracuse University. He was naturalized as a U. S. citizen in 1928 and joined the Department of Agriculture the next year. He was a forest adviser to the U. S. military government in Korea (Seoul and Taegu, 1947-48) and for the occupation of Japan (Tokyo, 1948-51). Appointed to the Point IV Program (later ICA and AID) in the early 1950's, he served as a forester in Columbia, Bolivia, and Madagascar, before retiring in 1965. There are no immediate survivors.

Sorry this took so long, but I'd feel well repaid for the finger fatigue if the Foreign Service obit might be printed in the next issue of the ever-improving DR.

by Karl R. Mayer

(Ed's note: Thank you, Mr. Mayer, for a beautiful tribute to a friend. Hope to see you at the picnic on September 20th.)

IN MEMORIAM

James Douglas (Red) Strange, age 80, died August 4. He was a 1932 graduate of the University of Georgia, and became a Forest Ranger in 1933. He retired from the U. S. Forest Service in 1969 as Associate Director of the Southeastern Area. Mr. Strange served as a United Nations Forestry Representative to the Government of India. He also served as USAID consultant to the Government of Costa Rica and was a U.S. Delegate to the First Pan American Congress of Soil Conservation in Brazil. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army Air Corps during WWII. Most recently Mr. Strange was employed as a Consulting Forester and had worked extensively with the Georgia Forestry Association, the Georgia Forestry Commission, the U. S. Forest Service and the Georgia State University. He was born in Franklin County, Ga., and grew up in Eatonton. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary K. Maddox Strange of Alpharetta; daughter Mr. and Mrs. Wes (Susan) Jennings, two granddaughters Katie and Christina Jennings of Alpharetta and a sister, Mrs. Malisse Bolton, Eatonton. He was a member of the University Heights United Methodist Church, Decatur, Ga.

John B. Hatcher, age 83, died June 10 in Aiken, S. C. Mr. Hatcher was born in Louisville, Ky., and had lived in Aiken for 38 years. He retired as head of the U.S. Forest Service at the Savannah River Plant. He was a graduate of the Phillips Exeter Academy and the University of Michigan. After receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees, he joined the Forest Service in 1929 and worked throughout the United States as a forester. He came to Aiken in early 1952 from the NFs in Alabama to put under management all the Savannah River Plant land that was not needed for facilities. Starting with his own seedlings the first year, he planted 96½ million trees on the site.

Since his retirement in 1966, Mr. Hatcher worked as a consultant in land management, economic studies and public committees. He was also interested in ornithology and traveled on an African safari to observe birds. He was also a gourmet cook. Surviving are a son, John B. Hatcher, Jr., Riverside, Calif.; two daughters, Elizabeth H. Harding, Aiken, and Mary H. Daniel, Columbia; seven grandchildren; and a great-grandchild. He was a member of the St. Thaddeus Episcopal Church.

Gordon Dean Fox, 81, a retired associate deputy chief, died on May 26 after a long illness. When he retired in 1971, Mr. Fox was the Associate Deputy Chief for Administration. He was a consultant to and member of several forestry-related national associations, including the Society of American Foresters, American Forestry Association, and the International Society of Tropical Foresters.

Chalmer K. Lyman, 78, of Hot Springs, AR, died July 4 at Mt. Ida. A native of Aberdeen, S. D., he graduated from the University of Montana on football and basketball scholarships. A lifelong outdoorsman and lover of nature, he had a 40-year career with the U. S. Forest Service, the last seven years as head of the Office of Personnel Management, Washington. His book on fire fighting management is still used today. After retirement he became director of a business counseling firm and lecturer until his move to Hot Springs. He served on the local mayoral advisory committee and was a former Elk and member of the Divine Science Church of Creative Life. He was an accomplished wood artist; his work was termed as folk art by the Smithsonian Institute.

Survivors include his wife, Norene Lyman of Hot Springs; one son, Yale Lyman of San Francisco; one daughter, Barbara Thronson of California; and three grandchildren.

Jim Wenner, retiree from the Ouachita, writes ...in 1956 in the old Region 7 I had suggested improvements in personnel management. Everyone tried to ignore me because, as Andy Anderson, Supervisor of the George Washington NF said, "Jim, I don't want to approve changes because it would be an admission that things aren't the best now!".

"Hi" Lyman, however, seriously studied my ideas, suggested improvements and methods of implementation. Since mid-1970's, after his retirement in Hot Springs, he would regularly visit the Ouachita NF SO where we would talk of the good old days, and discuss the latest round-dance news.

Last spring Hi had arteries replaced in both legs and a new heart pacer implanted. I visited him regularly at a nearby nursing home to get him out of bed and exercise him with walks down the hall. He seemed to be improving, but on Independence Day he became independent of this world. We miss him. (Thanks, Jim.)

Gladys C. Niles, 94, widow of Charles Niles, Sr., who was an Engineer on the Cherokee and the Ozark in the 1930's and 40's. Mrs. Niles lived in Russellville, AR. She is survived by a son, Charles F. Niles, Jr., Haines City, FL.; a daughter, Janet Niles Morgan of Premont, Texas; eight grandchildren, and 15 great-grandchildren.

Wally and Lucille Prater write ... she had been in a nursing home for many years but had a keen mind and full memory up to the end.

George Cabaniss writes ...Old timers of Tenn., La., and Ar. know her. Her husband, Charles, was Forest Engineer on Ozark N. F. and died in Russellville in 1957. Some might remember the gallon of beans blowing up on the Kisatchie. Can set on stove to warm up - without the top being removed.

(Thanks to both of you for writing about Mrs. Niles).

Deepest sympathy to Viola Meltz whose son, Samuel, died in November 1989. Viola worked in several offices in the Regional Office in Atlanta before her retirement.

Also to Edith Pair whose husband, Robert, died June 9. Edith worked in Fiscal and Accounting before her retirement and relocation to Rockwall, Texas.

The National Forest Service Museum in Missoula, Montana, has received Internal Revenue Service Tax Exemption status. The exemption is retroactive to November 22, 1988. This means that contributions made to NFSM since that date can be claimed as exemptions from taxable income on Federal income tax returns. The actual amount to be exempted will vary, depending on individual income, other exemptions claimed, etc.

USDA POINTS OF LIGHT

The Forest Service is implementing the USDA Points of Light Initiative to give much deserved recognition to Forest Service employees who volunteer services to help in their local communities. This initiative is under President Bush's Thousand Points of Light umbrella. USDA will select unique and outstanding Points of Light nominees to go forth for possible recognition by the President.

This initiative has the full support of Secretary Yeutter, Assistant Secretary Vila, and Chief Robertson. Ms. Vila is organizing a staff in the Office of the Secretary to handle the necessary support tasks--the staffing will be by USDA retirees. They would like to have Forest Service retirees participate. A minimum schedule commitment would be 4 hours per week. Anyone interested, please contact Katherine Allen, Branch Chief, Human Resources Program Staff (235-8840) - local D.C. number. A retiree would need to complete a special volunteer form. Anyone interested?

USDA HONOR AWARDS

The Forest Service is made up of many talented, hard-working, and courageous individuals. At a Department of Agriculture Honor Awards Ceremony in June, two categories out of a possible 16 were won by employees in Region 8.

In the category "Emergency Preparedness" a team award was presented to Donald Eng and Jose Salinas, Jr., Francis Marion-Sumter and Caribbean NFs. The award recognized their outstanding efforts in restoring operations and supporting relief efforts in South Carolina, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands during the Hurricane Hugo disaster. Both Supervisors used FS resources to restore access through tree blowdown and landslide areas, restore communication systems, and provide distribution points for relief supplies and emergency services.

Recipients of Superior Service awards for the "Heroic Action" category were Heyward Washington and Billy J. Williams, Personnel, RO, for sounding the alarm and assisting in the evacuation of employees during the Peachtree-25th Street

Office Building fire on June 30, 1989. Their alertness in recognizing the danger and responding appropriately prevented injuries and possible loss of life to Forest Service employees.

Congratulations to all of you!
